

Publishing an article

1. To publish an article in a magazine, the article is reviewed. After review, the edition and graphic design are performed in parallel. Once both are complete, the article is produced.

Diagram the process using BPMN standard.

2. Continuing the publishing example above, the graphic design will be done only if the article has illustrations.

Diagram the process using BPMN standard.

3. Continuing the publishing example in number 2, a reviewed article can be rejected, approved, or amendments can be requested by the author.

Diagram the process using BPMN standard.